

introduction

Organisational Skills Toolkit

organise

Organising is a natural human process, which makes us stronger and increases our ability to survive

conscientise

To conscientise means to grow or expand your awareness either as an individual or as a group

Organisational skills toolkit for Community Workers & Facilitators Guide for Community Workers

This toolkit captures the unique approach, practice and methods that Community Connections has developed as part of working with grassroots organisations. In the ten years that we have been in existence as an organisation we have been dedicated to support and strengthen community based organisations in order for civil society to drive the development in their own communities. In the 10 years that we have worked together with CBOs we have accumulated a wealth of experience and understanding of the realities of CBOs. The tools and methods that you find in this toolkit are as a result of this. This toolkit and facilitators guide is an immensely valuable resource for anyone who works closely with CBOs and would like to support them in their journey. If you would like to order these publications or if you would like to have more information, please contact: Jodie@connectionsafrika.org.za

Sector	Price toolkit	Price combi of toolkit and facilitators guide
Funders, government, private consultants	R350	R 600
NGOs	R 300	R 500
CBOs (not part of our programmes)	R200	R 400

sustain

To sustain means to keep something in existence strategise

To strategise means to find out where you want to go and to create a plan that can take you there resource guide

